

Thatch Firewall is manufactured to meet the specifications as recommended by Building Control. Thatch Firewall is a flexible fibre glass woven fabric, with a fire retardant coating of specially formulated grey polyurethane with added aluminium pigment on both sides.

With the Thatch Firewall being fixed to the rafters underneath the thatch, it offers a one hour fire barrier (BS476 Part3 2004) classification EXT.S.AC. In the event of a thatch fire the thatch is considered sacrificial.

Benefits

- 1 hour fire barrier
- Easy Application
- Water Resistant
- Breathable
- Strong and Durable
- Flexible

Specification

- Roll Length: 50m
- Roll Width: 1.27m
- Coverage: 61sqm
- Roll Weight: 31.5 kg
- Area Weight: 455g/m<sup>2</sup>
- Thickness: 0.40mm
- Insulation properties: 0.04-0.06 W/mk
- 'Class 0' Fire Rating

Testing

Thatch Firewall is tested to BS476 Part3; this test was completed by the BRE, Watford. A Copy of the test certificate is available upon request.

Application

Thatch Firewall is laid horizontally across the rafters with a 75mm overlap on all joints. The Thatch Firewall can either be stapled or nailed to the rafters and then battens are fitted over the top with 300mm centres, with the first batten 125mm from the arris rail.

Systems

Thatch Firewall can be used as a stand alone fire barrier in accordance with BS476 Part3. However we also recommend that Thatch Firewall be used in conjunction with ThatchBatts to create a more comprehensive fire barrier and increase thermal insulation values.

How to Order

To order Thatch Firewall or any other products form our range, please contact us on:

08455 20 40 60 or email: info@tas-uk.co.uk

“The UK’s leading advisor in thatch fire safety”

Thatching Advisory Services is the trading name of Thatching Advisory Services (UK) Ltd
Company Registered in England & Wales No. 6984018 Registered Office: 8-10 Queen Street, Seaton, Devon EX12 2NY

www.thatchingadvisoryservices.co.uk

